

PUBLIC LEDGER

MAYSVILLE, KY., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1906.

ONE CENT.

FIFTH YEAR.

LARGEST IN THE CITY.

Purely Business!

The columns of a newspaper represent a cash value. No publisher can afford to give advertising "chances" free any more than a merchant can give his customer free gifts of dry goods or shoes. A newspaper is a legitimate business concern. Its columns are its stock in trade, and advertisements should be paid for, no matter in what part of the paper they appear.

The Cagulated Cuts

Upon THE LEDGER for free notices have become so burdensome that we are forced to publish the following terms:

For Notices of Suppliers.
Candidates, firms, or other public entertainers who are a fee is charged, and for ordinary notices, candidates of respect, etc. This is known will charge five cents a line, and hereafter this will be the universal rule. This, however.

Do not include
notice of Lodge meetings or Church services, which must not exceed ten lines.

Advantages of Disputes.

Misunderstandings are unpleasant. The rate for Business Notice in THE LEDGER is 10 cents a line for the first insertion and 5 cents a line for subsequent insertions. A customer orders a five-line notice in the morning. He says, "I'll tell you when to take it out." He says the bookkeeper. But he forgets all about it. The notice runs for a month—24 times the full $10. When he finds it out there is a "blame" and a "complaint." It is probably by an icy feeling. Now, to clarify this trouble, or "tidy" the notice will be accepted hereafter. Let's have a definite agreement at the outset and the termination will be pleasant all around.

All matter for publication must be handed in before 9 o'clock in the morning of each day.

IF you have friends visiting you, or if you are coming as a guest, please drop a note to this effect.

Mr. Henry A. Power of Paris was a visitor in Maysville this week.

Miss Annie Chandler of Millersburg is visiting relatives in this city.

Miss Marie Walsh of the Sixth Ward is the guest of Miss Jessie Jones of Portsmouth.

John W. McKellup of Vanceburg has been granted an increase of pension.

Mrs. Mary Brown is building an addition to her residence on Caste street.

The C. and O. is putting down a double track between Huntington and Ashland.

An inventory of the assigned property of J. F. Walton shows a value of $921.75.

The Democrats of Aberdeen and Huntington Township will hold a primary March 14th to nominate a ticket for the April election.

The Mason county free turnpike case will come up in the Court of Appeals on Tuesday next. Several lawyers from this city will air their voices on the occasion.

FIRE IN LEWIS.

J. B. Wilson's Store and Dwelling Burned at Sand Hill.

At Sand Hill, About 4 o'clock this morning, The large storehouse of J. B. Wilson, together with his handsome residence near by.

Were totally destroyed by fire. The origin of the flames is unknown.

The property was insured with Messrs. Duley & Baldwin and W. R. Warder of this city.

The dwelling for $1,500; Furniture, $750; Storehouse, $850; Stock, $1,500.

The aggregate loss is not known, but it is thought to exceed the insurance.

EVERY UP.

I stole down by the brooklet side.

The moon was bright.

I stole a don't know there.

I stole a match on other men.

I knew my part.

I was so good at stealing that.

I stole my heart.

Now we are happy man and wife.

Why seem I strange.

If when the foot away in bed,

She steals my chin?

SADDENED HEARTS.

Death of Duncan, Son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wood.

None can so well sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wood in the loss of their darling baby boy as they who have undergone a like bereavement.

Those whose hearts have been well nigh snatched under a similar affliction will appreciate the sorrow of the father and mother of little Duncan Wood.

The child had been with them just ten months, but he was such a bright baby that he would readily have passed for one much older.

He was an exceedingly sprightly child, and had learned many sweet little ways that had rendered him dearer to the whole household.

If the prayers and kind ministrations of friends could have availed, little Duncan would have remained in this world of sorrow; but God took him while he was yet pure and spotless, and now the darling child is an angel in heaven.

The lay hand of death can never more reach him, and the fond parents can think of him as a bright angel forever more.

One day they shall see little Duncan just as they knew him here, only fairer and of a heavenly radiance, for now that their treasure is in heaven thither, we are sure, will their hearts go.

These Arise His Curses.

Dr. Wiley, ex-Postmaster, Black Creek, N. Y., was a badly afflicted man, but he was a man of noble character that he was only able to baffle himself with canes, and even then it caused him great pain. After using Chamberlain's Pain Balm he was so much improved that he threw away his canes.

He says this balm did him more good than all other medicines and treatment put together. For sale at 50 cents per bottle by J. James Wood, Druggist.

WASHINGTON AND LINCOLN.

The of the Greatest Men a Nation Have Produced.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The greatest names in American history are Washington and Lincoln. There are others that have pronounced distinction, in other countries as well as in our own, but these two are supreme over all the rest. By common consent, the idea of comparison is left out when they are considered. They stand respectively for the two most momentous things in the story of the fortunes of the Republic. Washington was the master spirit of the Revolution, and Lincoln bore the same relation to the Civil War by which the work of the fathers was completed. It is easy to connect them, notwithstanding the distance between them in point of time, and to understand that their tasks were joined to similar objects and interests. The logic of history unites them, and makes them essential to each other, so to speak. To regard them separately is to miss their true significance as factors in the continuous process of National conquest and development. We get only a partial conception of them when we detach them from the general record and view them merely in the light of the events with which they were directly associated. The services of the one reached forward and those of the other backward with an effect than renders them historically inseparable; and the popular imagination readily puts them together for purposes of homage, of inspiration and of instruction.

These two imperial characters were of the same pattern so far as their controlling motives and fundamental qualities were concerned. That is to say, they were both thoroughly patriotic, steady, honest and splendidly superior to circumstances. It is not difficult to conceive that they must often have chosen precisely the same methods of forming conclusions as to troublesome propositions that had never before been presented. They were widely different in mental endowments, to be sure, and yet there were some points of striking resemblance between them as thinkers and reasoners. Both of them were well gifted with what we call common sense, which is, in fact, the most uncommon sense. They were always level-headed, and no pressure of anxiety or perplexity ever caused them to lose their intellectual balance. It frequently happened that little things annoyed them, and some of the things they spoke with an accent of temper, for they were human after all, but in every important contingency they preserved a masterful equanimity, and proceeded with the kind of caution that belongs to practical wisdom. They made some mistakes, of course, it was not possible for them to strike twelve every time, or they would have been gods instead of men; but when they erred it was only for the moment or on comparatively trivial issues, and their general soundness of judgment remained unquestioned.

There are notable contrasts in the case, however. The two men were decidedly unlike in some respects, and the public feeling toward them has been influenced accordingly. Washington had some aristocratic tendencies, which were at odds with the Democratic theory that he was so justly idolized, and there was a certain air of condescension in his attitude toward the masses. His uniform dignity was admirable in its way, but not conducive to personal popularity; his characteristic seriousness was impressive, but it did not put him on terms of sympathy with the masses. Furthermore, his biographers have idealized him to such an extent that it is hard to cherish an affectionate sentiment with regard to him. His greatness is a source of National pride but we do not think of him with tenderness. Lincoln, on the contrary, was a man of the people, and his simplicity won the common heart. There was never a time when he was out of touch with the thoughts and interests of the humblest of his fellow citizens. He interpreted public opinion by his sense of familiarity with the intellectual habits and emotional faculties of the multitude. His wisdom included a wholesome humor and an unflinching kindness. So it comes that we cherish his memory with a peculiar fondness, and he is likely always to be thus favored over all other illustrious Americans.

The advertising columns of THE LEDGER speak for themselves. They show that people who know how to advertise know also want to advertise.

A Catholic Priest, claiming to be from Paris, on the Texas train, loaded with whisky or else drugged, tried "to smash the jaw" of a passenger and was badly wounded.

The Empress Eugenie has presented to the Paris Museum of Decorative Arts all the plans and drawings prepared for the ornamentation of her private apartments in the Tuilleries.

The sister who fails to speak to the strange lady in the congregation because "I never met her," is probably her herself wandering around alone some day in heaven, wishing somebody would die and come up with her as "met."

That there are only twenty-four towns in Massachusetts which possess no public library, speaks well for the light which the people of this commonwealth regard the influence of good books. What other state that can match this showing?

A good many years ago when sewing machines sold for $30 a farmer living near Newswell borrowed that amount from a neighbor and bought one, says The Clinton. The principal or interest was neither paid, and the note was renewed from time to time. The estate is being settled up, and it will take something over $250 to cancel the obligation. Today this amount would buy nearly a carload of sewing machines.

BOLD, BAD BOLTER.

"Judge" Hummums in the Role of a Real Nosen.

Frankfort Special to Louisville Post, Feb. 25th.

A big delegation of Lewis county citizens, including County Attorney, Circuit Clerk and many other officers, is here to today to protest against the course being pursued by Senator Hummums in refusing to vote for Dr. Hunter. The Senator declines to say what effect, if any, the influences being brought to bear on him will have.

Frankfort Special to Commercial Gazette.

Judge Hummums, who has refused to vote for Hunter, explains his position in this wise: "I have voted for some time and see that he cannot win, and am voting for another man, hoping that he will attract sufficient support to win. I am representing the wishes of my constituents." Letters from the county officials of Judge Hummums's District, which have been sent to him, advise him to support the Republican nominee until another candidate is placed in the field. I have read one of these letters and it must have been the Judge's hair curl.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by J. C. Catnach's "Cure Deafness" Catnach, Free.

The Directors of the National P. H. Farmers' Association are holding a meeting at Lexington for the purpose of investigating charges of irregularity concerning the last year.

A farmer at Missouri, Campbell county, struck himself on the knee with an ax, shattering the knee, and cutting a deep hole. Instead of using a doctor he took the advice of an ignorant neighbor and put wood ashes into the wound and asked it to heal the joint all from using it down. He was almost crazy from the pain and if the doctors now succeed in saving his leg he will be fortunate indeed.

Colonel Frank Cook of Abilene is a candidate for Delegate from the Ninth Congressional District to the National Republican Convention at St. Louis.

Col. H. H. "By the way," observed the returned globe trotter, "I haven't seen young Wolkley since I got back. Is he any more and retiring as ever?"

"Yes," answered the old resident, "a little more so. He's retired from the original hotel last August, between two days, about $2,000 of borrowed money."

The full line of this is reached only by the perfect beauty, sickness discounts the capacity for enjoyment. If he is out of order and runs down, he will not be able to enjoy anything, no matter how full of enjoyment it may be for other people. If he is a little bit out of order, he will not be able to enjoy anything, but doesn't feel just right, he will only be able to enjoy things in a half-hearted sort of way.

The nearer he is to being perfectly well, the nearer will his capacity for enjoyment be perfect. If this condition doesn't exist, nothing ought to be done. That means success in the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It works directly on the digestive organs, and on the blood and through these on every tissue of the body. It makes the appetite good, digestion and assimilation perfect and supplies the blood to all the tissues, building up solid, healthy flesh.

CRISIS COMING.

Not Until June Will Cleveland Interfere in Cuba's Behalf.

The President Has Given a Promise to Spain to That Effect.

It is Now Considered Certain That the House Will Adopt an Advanced Attitude Toward the Cuban Question.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—America is approaching a crisis in its relations to Spain and Cuba. In addition to the action of the senate, it is now considered certain that the house will adopt an advanced attitude toward the Cuban question.

The foreign affairs committee, it is reliably reported, will agree upon a resolution requesting President Cleveland to intervene in behalf of peace of Cuba.

That President Cleveland has a strong sympathy for the Cubans there is no doubt, but it has been said that the president has given a promise to Spain that there will be no interference until the rainy season has passed and a step to military operations. This promise holds good, however, says until June. It has long been President Cleveland's intention to intervene at that time when the trouble should be ended in the meantime. The president has not believed in revocation of a state of self-defense, and for this reason efforts have been made on the part of the administration to postpone action in congress. It is believed that the house, when it finally reports a vote, will adopt a resolution similar to that offered by Senator White, and that the house will make a definite request to the president for intervention.

SHE BUILT A CHURCH.

Remarkable Work of Mrs. Aletha Hults of Artime, Ky.

Mrs. Aletha Hults, aged 44, who lives at Artime, Knox county, has built a church.

She is not a millionaire, nor did she receive donations from the rich. Every dollar that has been put into the church in money has been earned by her own hands.

She has been living in Knox county for several years. It is a devout member of the Christian Church, and about a year ago gave up her mind to build a church at Artime.

She didn't have a dollar. She tried to beg money. The poor miners in the Jellison region, who had not a full day's work for months, laughed at her. The citizens who formerly lived by supplying necessities to the miners were as poor as the men who had dug coal. They could give nothing.

Mrs. Hults was not dismayed. She gathered strawberries, and, carrying them in buckets over the mountain path three miles to market, she sold them for a low price. The money she received for the berries was not a great deal, but it was hers, and she was not ashamed to take it.

She had a small plot of land. She sold it to the L. O. and L. and with the money she sold it for a good price. This money went with the strawberries.

Then her cow dropped a calf, but the mother died in a few days. This was a great blow to the poor woman, but she bore up bravely under the misfortune, raised the calf by hand and sold it. Again her church fund was increased by several dollars.

She further increased the fund by raising and selling vegetables.

Early last fall, after the miners had been at work several months again, she made another pilgrimage among the poor to see if she could raise any money by subscription. But they had all been so far behind and owed the "store" so much that she again failed.

She went over the entire ground once more. This time she didn't ask for money. She wanted to know if every man she met if he would give as much as one, or two, or three, or four days' work on the church. Nearly every man donated labor. It was all he had to give.

Then she went to see a large lumber dealer. She told him her story, and told him how much money she had raised. He offered to sell her lumber with which to build the church at cost, and for every dollar she had to donate its value in lumber himself. What was lacking he said she could pay for later.

Then she had to get a site for the church. This was easy. She found a man who had lots of mountain land, and who had heard of her many months of hard work for a church, and he readily assented to the donation of sufficient land on which to erect the edifice.

Work was soon begun. The church is now under foot. The walls are simply studding, weather-boarded. The building has no steeple, no spire, no pulpit, is not plastered, and is not painted. But it is a church, and Mrs. Hults is happy.

The W. C. T. U. of Lexington learned this story through Mr. Beauchamp, the State President. It has donated a large sum with which to help Mrs. Hults' church. The ladies of Lexington will donate 150 chairs, one third of that number having been pledged already.

As soon as the church receives these donations Elder McGarvey will hold a protracted meeting there.

TAKEAPILL.

When you take the capsule, it will be broken up by the stomach acids, and the water will be absorbed into the blood.

As an example of hard luck this is certainly a good one: A Missouri farmer figured it out one rainy day that he had walked 300 miles in cultivating one acre of corn. He then sold his farm and moved to a town, where he walked 600 miles to find a job.

The little daughter of Mr. Fred Weber, Holland, Mass., had a very bad cold and cough which he had not been able to cure with any thing. I gave him a 25 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

NEUTRY NOTES FROM NATURE'S GREAT HIGHWAY.

The Bonanza passed up last night for Pomory.

The Sheriff will pass down tonight from Pomory.

The Bellevue has gone up to the Big Sandy for a tow of lumber.

The Silver Wave, in the Vaneclorade, went to Augusta yesterday.

The Henry M. Stanley will pass up tonight for the Kanawha river, her new run.

Great heaps of shire ice still cling to the bank at the head of the wharfboat, where the river has fallen and left it.

The Fallie succeeded in getting her way off Rising Star with the exception of two coals, which cannot be moved until the river rises.

The stage of water in the Ohio and Kanawha up to 12 o'clock last night was as follows: Pittsburgh, 41, rising; Wheeling, 67, rising; Parkersburg, 74, rising; Bedford, 3, falling; Huston, 24, falling; Charleston, 19, falling; Point Pleasant, 69, falling; Cattsburg, 59, falling; Portsmouth, 109, falling; Maysville, 11, falling.

Last evening about 7:15 the steamer Virginia landed in at our wharf, and about 100 people took advantage of the opportunity thus afforded to take a look at the beautiful floating palace. She discharged thirty kegs of horseshoes for the Mitchell & O'Hare Hardware Co., about a dozen empty egg cases, several packages for the Limestone Milling Co., and a lot of freight to be reshipped for Vanceburg, Rome, Ripley, Ohio and New Richmond. She did not make a landing between Pure and Cincinnati. She had about all the freight she could handle on this water and a fair passenger list. She will pass up tonight for Pittsburgh on the Keystone 2 a time.

BADLY MIXED.

Uncle Knuck Took a Tumble and Got His Medicines Tangled.

New York World.

"Hurt ye much, Uncle Knuck?" inquired Jay Green of Farmer Knuck, who had inadvertently fallen off a load of hay, landing heavily and in an awkward heap on the ground and was now sitting on a convenient stump and gingerly pawing himself over in search of fractures.

"Waal, no, I guess not," replied the old man. "But it makes me feel considerably mystified."

"Ye don't mean mystified, do ye, Uncle Knuck?"

"Yep, that's jest exactly what I mean. Ye see, I've been feelin' poorly for several days, and before I started to town with this load of hay I took a powder for the boiler renovation in my head, a pill for the pain in my knee, a capsule for my lung trouble and some plaster for my liver. I put a good big bottle on my week back. Waa! that jist shook me up so that the plaster is now down in my left shoe, and if the rest of them remedies have been knocked as far out of place as the plaster was I'm sorry mystified as to how they are goin' to get back to the place they were destined to benedict."

The little daughter of Mr. Fred Weber, Holland, Mass., had a very bad cold and cough which he had not been able to cure with any thing. I gave him a 25 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

WE ARE LIKE THE JAPSI!

At the trial of a man for malicious slandering at Richmond last week, one witness swore that he not only heard the bolter, who by his hand beat that he smelt the fellow with which it was ground.

SPECIFIC FOR SCROFULA.

"Since childhood, I have been afflicted with scrofulous boils and sores, which caused me terrible suffering. Physicians were unable to help me, and I only grew worse under their care. At length, I began to take Sarsaparilla, and very soon grew better. After using half a dozen bottles I was completely cured, so that I have not had a boil or pimple on any part of my body for the last twelve years. I can cordially recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla as the very best blood-purifier in existence."

AYER'S
